The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. M. Christian of the Statesboro Methodist church. The marriage was a simple affair, no invitations being issued.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was given the young couple by the bride's mother.

The home was beautifully decorated with flowers of the season and ferns.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. J. H. Whitehead and Mrs. J. G. Mays. Mrs. C. P. Olliff directed them to the register. Mrs. J. W. Johnston presented the guests to the receiving line.

GEORGE ELECTED SENATOR IN A VERITABLE LANDSLIDE

CARRIED 125 COUNTIES WITH 304 CONVENTION VOTES—28 COUNTIES FOR HARDWICK.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 19.—Revised returns from all counties in the state in the race for the United States Senate in the primary Tuesday increased the total county unit vote of Judge Walter F. George and decreased the vote of Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, his nearest rival, when it was shown that Bacon county had been carried by Judge George instead of by Governor Hardwick. The revised returns gave George 126 counties with 318 county unit votes; Hardwick 27 counties with 74 votes, and Seaborn Wright, third candidate, 7 counties with 22 votes.

Congratulating Judge Walter F. George on his sweeping victory in the race and denouncing Senator William J. Harris for his active part in a campaign, Governor Hardwick issued a post-election statement Wednesday in which he outlined his plans for the future.

The governor bitterly attacked Senator Harris for his work in opposition to the Hardwick candidacy. He characterized Senator Harris as "a disgrace to the state" and charged him with being a "common liar and coward."

Governor Hardwick said he would serve out his term as governor and then take up the practice of law and at the same time would edit and publish a weekly newspaper to be known as the Georgia Cracker.

Atlanta, Oct. 18.—Hon. Walter F. George, former justice of the supreme court, with a total of 304 county unit votes, was overwhelmingly nominated as successor to the late United States Senator Thomas E. Watson in yesterday's special Democratic primary, according to complete unofficial returns compiled by the Atlanta Constitution today.

The victory of Judge George marked the second defeat of Gov. Thomas W. Hardwick, within as many months, and, according to political observers, showed that the Watson block of voters, estimated at 50,000 at full strength, remained intact and voted almost solidly for the former court justice.

Of the 150 counties in the state, George carried 125, giving him ninety-six more convention votes than the 208 required for nomination, according to the Constitution's compilation. Gov. Hardwick carried 27 counties with 74 unit votes; Seaborn Wright with 7 counties with 22 unit votes, and John R. Cooper none, the newspaper's figures showed.

Definite reports of the popular vote in 71 counties gave George 27,914; Hardwick, 19,056; Wright 7,063, and Cooper 400, it was stated. Inclement weather in almost every section of the state caused a very light vote to be cast. Hardwick's defeat yesterday was worse than in his race for re-election as governor last month.

Judge George, the new United States Senator, went home this morning to Vienna to see his family and spend a day with his friends, after which he will return to Atlanta tomorrow morning.

His victory over Governor Hardwick and Seaborn Wright was one of the most sweeping ever won in Georgia. The popular vote, which is not yet complete in the returns, was one of the lightest on record.

Judge George made almost a clean sweep in South Georgia. He ran the governor very close second in the governor's home county, Washington, which went for Hardwick by less than 10 votes. Judge George lost only 25 votes in his home county, Dooley.

Of the six-vote counties, Judge George carried Fulton, Bibb, Muscogee, DeKalb, the governor carried Chatham, Laurens and Richmond, and Wright carried Floyd, his own home county.

Major C. E. McGregor of Warrenton carried more than 100 counties. For person commissioner, winning a sweeping victory over his four opponents, one of whom was Col. John W. Clark of Augusta, the governor's ad interim appointee.

COUPLE FROM OHIO ARE NABBED NEAR STATESBORO

Federal Officer Wilkins and County Policeman Brannen yesterday arrested Mr. and Mrs. Pete Francisco, driving a Buick touring car, near Brooklet, with one forty gallon, one twenty gallon and one fifteen-gallon kegs of whiskey. The couple were carried to Savannah where they gave information upon which Isaac Goldberg and his wife were arrested there today.

Mr. and Mrs. Francisco are in jail at Statesboro tonight.

SUPERIOR COURT TO CONVENE MONDAY

PADRIK MURDER CASE TO BE MOST SENSATIONAL TO COME UP FOR TRIAL.

Superior court will convene in Statesboro Monday of next week. The trial of E. L. Padrick, Jr., charged with the murder of his wife and her mother, Mrs. M. B. Dixon, will be the most interesting case on the docket, and will probably require a longer time than any other.

Another murder case to be called for trial, however, is that against Perry Barnes, charged with the killing of his brother, Henry Barnes, more than a year ago. This case has once been tried and resulted in a mistrial. Whether both cases will come to trial at the present term, remains to be seen.

Padrick killed his wife and her mother near Dover one night the latter part of June. He has been in jail here ever since. After killing the women he drove into Sebeon county, but was captured the same night near Sylvania and was brought back here a few days afterward. He admitted the killing, but has not outlined his defense. It is known, however, that he was jealous of her and accused her of other men. He had been separated from her for several weeks, and was employed at Sandersville, while she remained with her parents in the Blitch district. He wrote her to meet him at Clito on a certain afternoon the latter part of June. She carried her mother with her to meet him and after leaving the station at Clito they drove in the direction of Dover. Several hours later the two women were found dead in their car on the embankment near the first bridge on the Bulloch county side of the Ogeechee river. They had been shot to death.

Deed and Renfro have been employed to assist in the prosecution of the case against Padrick, while Anderson & Jones and Pearce & Pearce, of Augusta, have been employed to represent the defendant. While the chief of defense has not been named, it is the general belief that it will be a special plea of insanity, which will first require a trial jury on this ground. In the event he is found sane, then the murder charge would come up for trial; if found insane, the case would end at that point so far as the murder charge is concerned.

Young Padrick, who is a minister, is a son of Rev. E. L. Padrick. Two other brothers are also engaged in the ministry. The family were located at Clito for several years before being recent transfer to other fields of labor. The father is now in Burke county.

NEW OFFICERS FOR ADVERTISING CLUB

ANNUAL DINNER MONDAY EVENING WAS MADE MOST DELIGHTFUL OCCASION.

The annual election of officers of the Statesboro Advertising Club occurred Monday evening following the dinner, which was held at the Golden-Raad Tea Room. More than fifty members were present and the occasion was made a most delightful one by the report of the nominating committee, appointed at a previous meeting, was unanimously adopted, under which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—J. L. Renfro.
Vice presidents—W. E. McDougald, Chas. Pigne, and M. Mikell.
Secretary—Treasurer—Pete Donaldson.

J. E. McCran, the retiring president, who has headed the club during the past year, presided in a most happy manner. Coincided with the dinner, a brief program of speech-making was staged, and inspiring and pleasing talks were made by President McCran, Rev. W. T. Granda, Dr. A. J. Mooney, Prof. R. M. Monts, E. V. Hollis, Leroy Cartwright. A report from the auditing committee disclosed the treasury operations for the year to have exceeded $1,000, with a good healthy cash balance. Secretary Donaldson submitted a resume of the club's work, outlining in a brief way the undertakings and accomplishments.

AYCOCK WEETS DEATH AT HANDS OF JACKSON

SLAYER CLAIMS JUSTIFICATION BECAUSE OF INSULT TO HIS WIFE.

T. M. Aycock, aged 26, was shot to death Friday morning of last week at the home of George Jackson, aged 40. Both are residents of Jenkins county, in the territory which formerly belonged to Bulloch county. Jackson is in jail at Millen to await trial for the killing.

At a coroner's inquest held Friday afternoon, Jackson admitted the killing and claimed justification in resisting an alleged insult to his wife. His wife and child are understood to have corroborated his statement.

Young Aycock, who was a son of E. B. Aycock, went to the home of his father Friday morning to do some work at the mill. Some part of the machinery was broken and the young man was dispatched in his buggy to a missing part. Jackson's home was on the route traversed by Aycock. Some errand, his horse came home with the buggy missing and the broken harness around the neck of the horse. Members of the family went in search and inquired at Jackson's home. Jackson coolly informed them that Aycock lay dead in his back yard and that he forbade anyone from entering his yard till the officers of Jenkins county arrived. To the sheriff he surrendered and made the statement that Aycock, passing his home, had hitched his horse at the gate and had entered the yard and made insulting proposals to his wife. Jackson stated that he was in a back room of the house with his child, and that when he heard the conversation he took his gun and shot Aycock dead in the yard. Jackson's wife bears out the statement of her husband in this regard.

Members of the Aycock family do not accept the statement of Jackson as truthful. A brother of the dead man gave the Times reporter a statement Monday which was about as follows: Jackson had trouble with some of his neighbors several months ago and was badly cut; he went to the home of T. M. Aycock and sought his aid in reaching Millen; Aycock was about to carry him, but the question was asked Jackson why he was going to Millen, and he replied that he proposed to prosecute the men who had cut him; Aycock, wishing to keep out of the row, thereupon deposed to accompany Jackson, and since that time Jackson had been threatening to "get even" with Aycock, which threats have been made known to the Aycock family. The Aycock family do not accept the theory that the dead man had made any overtures toward Jackson's wife, or that he had even entered the house. They point out that he had been carrying his sister's wife and was returning home when he met death. Their belief is that he was waylaid by Jackson on the road at a point a hundred yards or more from his house and was shot down; that he was carried to Jackson's back yard after he was dead.

As supporting this theory, the brother stated to the reporter that near a tree in the forks of the road some distance from the Jackson home, the afternoon after the killing he found a pool of blood, possibly not less than two or three quarts; the just behind the tree from where the blood was, there were the footprints of a man and an empty gun shell newly fired. He declared that at another point just in front of the house there was a small pool of blood in the road or by the side of it, indicating that the body had been hauled to the house from the point on the road where the larger quantity of blood was found. He pointed out that, though his brother had been shot through the body with a load of slugs, there was no blood on the ground.

A vote of thanks was extended to Miss Rand, of the Tea Room, for the excellent spread of the evening. The repast was served in a most unobtrusive and delicate manner and the neatness of the decorations added much to the pleasure of the occasion. Statesboro Orchestra came in for a hearty vote of thanks for the sweet music which charmed while the meal was being served.

GEORGE CARRIES BULLOCH BY TWO-TO-ONE MAJORITY

WHOLESALE BREAKING WITNESSED SATURDAY

LIQUID CATCH OF PAST SEVERAL MONTHS WAS POURED OUT IN PUBLIC.

Wet goods variously estimated at from 1,000 to 1,700 quarts, the accumulations of the past several months, were poured out before the public yesterday morning at the jail by Sheriff Mallard and the county police force.

The pouring was witnessed by a vast and interested throng, moved by varying emotions of interest, sorrow and approval. Strangers passing through town at the time could not have failed to notice the peculiar and fascinating aroma floating from the vicinity of the county jail. One not knowing what was in progress, might easily have suspected that the lid had been lifted from a steaming kettle of home brew, and the less suspicious only may have thought that some neighbor had discovered a variety of extra dry. Anyway, there was no mistaking the scent of liquor, and none could have failed to realize its near presence.

Contrary to the custom of the past, the bottles containing the liquor were not broken, but were opened carefully and their contents emptied. The future and more lawful use of the syrup-making industry. Just how many bottles there were, we do not know, but those who witnessed the pouring agree that there was a large pile of them, and that the river of red liquor which flowed silently down the hill was one of considerable moment.

practically no blood on the ground where the body was found in the back yard, and that the overcoat which he wore had not been blooded to any extent. His belief is that Aycock was shot on the road and while his overcoat was in the buggy; that the body was permitted to lie where it fell until some other person arrived to assist Jackson in carrying the body inside his yard; that his overcoat was put on after he was dead, which accounted for the practical absence of blood in the yard where the body was lying. As a further suspicious circumstance, this brother related to us that, while surveying the premises after the killing, he discovered a trail of some object having been dragged across the road near the Jackson home. He followed this trail in one direction and discovered where some object had bled slightly in the woods. Turning and following in the other direction, which led directly toward the spot on the road where the large pool of blood was found, he found a large road dead within a short distance of that spot, having been dragged as a blind and was being carried to the spot of blood in the road as an excuse for its presence there.

Just what the truth of the whole matter is, may be revealed at a trial later. The slain man was of prominent family and was highly esteemed by the community. He was married, his wife being a daughter of Isaac Atkins, of Bulloch county. He was a cousin of Jackson's wife.

RED CROSS WINNING IN FIGHT FOR HEALTH

Better, Stronger Citizenry Now Emerging Out of Work in United States.

The American Red Cross as an exponent of better health has looked its problem square in the face. How it accepted the task revealed in the nation's physical condition as brought out during the World War, and conscientiously applied its activities to correction of the vices of the nation in the forthcoming annual report. Historically and practically, nursing is a basic work for the Red Cross. In its public health nursing service, it has been successful in the care of the sick, nutrition classes, first aid and life saving courses and health centers, the American Red Cross is applying effectively the lessons learned during the war and making for a healthier, stronger and better nation.

The task of the Red Cross Public Health nurse in the 1240 nursing services now operating throughout the country instructing their communities in health essentials and disease prevention is demonstrating the possibilities of human betterment and the great benefits of enlightenment.

During the last year 313 new public health nursing services were established by Red Cross Chapters, and several hundred services so convincingly proved their effectiveness that they were taken over by public authorities. In order to promote this work $200,000 was allotted to provide women to prepare themselves for public nursing. The home visits made by the 1240 nurses aggregated nearly 1,500,000 visits to the schools, homes, and in six months 125,000 school children were inspected by these nurses and where defects were found advised examination by physicians. In rural communities this service has made a very marked advance and has won the confidence of converts to approved methods of disease prevention.

In home hygiene and care of the sick instruction, which fits the student in methods of proper care where illness is not so serious as to require professional service, the Red Cross conducted 3,884 classes during the last year, enrolled 2,300 instructors, 60,448 students and issued 47,560 certificates.

On June 30, 1922, nutrition service embraced 1,169 classes, with a total of 97,223 children and 2,260 enrolled students. Seventy-eight food selection classes graduated 733 who received Red Cross certificates. In general health, the Red Cross Chapters maintained 377 health centers, serving as many communities, provided 38,751 health lectures for large audiences and where, while clinics numbered over 10,000.

Red Cross Gains Strength in All Foreign Fields

In insular possessions of the United States and in foreign lands the American Red Cross scored heavy gains during the last year, passing the previous membership high mark of 1018 by 4201 and advancing the figure to 10,408. The Philippines take the lead, gaining nearly 100 per cent, now having 115,917 members. In Europe the 1921 total call enrolled 11,125, with the Constantinople Chapter reporting 965, a gain of 33 members. China was 1,282 members, a gain of 566; the little Virgin Islands have 1,000, while the Dominican Republic with 2,927 advanced from its previous high mark by 1,423 new members. Haiti, organized in 1920, now has nearly 1,000 enrolled. Mexico reports 354, a gain of 327 in one year. The American Red Cross has spread its membership over some 70 foreign lands and its Junior membership outside of the United States is close to 100,000.

Red Cross Water First Aid Makes Life-Saving Gain

More than 325 Chapters engaged in life saving or water first aid last year with the result that the American Red Cross Life-Saving Corps has set a new mark for enrollment and the number of qualified life savers developed. The influence of "learn to swim week" in many localities is resulting in a growing appreciation for this Red Cross Life-Saving Service is shown by the compulsory instruction adopted in many cities for members of the police and fire departments in the prone pressure method of resuscitation.

MRS. FELTON MAY TAKE SEAT IN SENATE

INDICATION THAT CONGRESS WILL BE CALLED IN EXTRA SESSION.

Atlanta, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Wm. H. Felton today issued a very salty communication, from her home in Cartersville, in reply to the interview published Sunday by Senator W. J. Harris on the campaign now in progress for the seat vacated by the death of Senator Thomas E. Watson.

In it Mrs. Felton likens Senator Harris' interview to "the time of Governor Atkinson, when a rare circular" was issued by the ring leader of the party to secure negro votes," and adds that Watson never voted for anything like that quoted by Senator Harris during any of her visits to Watson.

"But," she adds, "who can tell what Senator Harris said or did when he flattered the sick man—as his manner is to flatter—until he procured the alleged statement he flings to the world? She says it was due her, if Watson felt that way, to warn her, but she declares he did not, ever make any such reference.

"In the days to come," says Senator Felton, "Senator Harris may bring out other sensational statements, perhaps spoken to him in privacy, and this privacy may again be betrayed, but I would prefer to be Tom Hardwick who has never said an unkind word in public or private of the late Senator Watson, in my hearing, than the smooth-faced Parsee, while they are thus performing in secret for the devil."

WOMEN'S WOES

Stateho's Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up" must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with aching joints. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidney only that is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. J. L. Bragg, 225 Proctor street, Statesboro, says: "I was complaining of lame back and kidney trouble. I was plumb down with kidney pain through the small of my back and I could hardly stoop or straighten. I was about past going. I felt tired all the time and my kidneys acted irregularly. I had awful pains in the top of my head and when I read about Doan's Kidney Pills began to use them. A couple of boxes of Doan's cured me."

A Tribute To The Secretaries Of The W. M. U. of Georgia

When I first became acquainted with the work in 1914, Miss Evie Campbell was secretary. I shall never forget her kindness and patience while in office. She was especially fond of young people, having been dean of Bessie Tift college before she was elected secretary. To know her was to love her. Miss Susan Anderson succeeded her and before we had come to know her well she was called to missionary work in Africa and resigned. Mrs. Katie C. Wakefield was elected to succeed Miss Anderson and greatly endeared herself to the women of the union by her splendid work while in office.

In 1920 she resigned and Miss Maud Powell, then state young people's leader, was elected to succeed her. We had learned to know and love Miss Powell as a very capable leader and our love for her increased as we knew her better and her work will always be remembered. In 1922 she resigned and Miss Laura Lee Patrick succeeded her. She is a splendid Christian woman, deeply consecrated to the work and we feel sure will fill the office in a very creditable manner. Her presence at our last meeting was an inspiration and a benediction. May she serve us long and faithfully.

During the last year 313 new public health nursing services were established by Red Cross Chapters, and several hundred services so convincingly proved their effectiveness that they were taken over by public authorities. Our teachers are Miss Allie Stevenson, of Raymond, Ga.; Miss Tressa Tanner, of Sandersville, Ga.; and Mrs. Junius Scott, of Leefield.

MACON CONVENTION TO BE TAME AFFAIR

SENATOR-ELECT GEORGE TO BE PRINCIPAL SPEAKER OF THE OCCASION.

Atlanta, Oct. 23.—Politicians have all left the city, following the meeting of the new Democratic executive committee here Saturday, some of them remaining over Sunday, and plans are going forward for the meeting of the state Democratic convention next Saturday at Macon.

So far as known, the coming convention will be a very tame affair, and the speaking will be limited. Hon. Clifford M. Walker, newly elected governor, delivered his acceptance speech at the gathering of the Walker delegates on October 4th, when he now takes the role of spectator and listener as the official results of the gubernatorial and senatorial primaries are declared. The governor-elect has not prepared a second speech, he told his friends.

Judge Walter F. George, of Vienna, who was nominated in the senatorial primary since the gathering of the Walker delegates at Macon, will be the chief speaker at the convention. He will deliver his speech of acceptance, bringing out the principles of the platform in which he was elected and will conduct the duties of his office. The senior senator from Georgia, Hon. Wm. J. Harris, will attend the convention and occupy a seat on the stage with his junior colleague.

Senator Harris is now a familiar figure in the hotel lobbies of Atlanta, having come to Georgia upon the adjournment of congress and will remain until the national law-making body reassembles early in December. Since his arrival, the senior senator has been literally besieged with invitations to make speeches, and if he accepts all of the invitations he will be heard in many sections of the state during the next few weeks.

Many interesting games were played, after which punch was served by Miss Zada Rushing and Mrs. L. O. Rushing.

Later in the afternoon the guests assembled in the dining room where the birthday cake with twelve candles was placed in the center of the table.

Leefield has already been enrolled as one of the ten schools that will exhibit at the Fair and the interest and enthusiasm that is being manifested is very gratifying.

money, running from dollar bills to $50 checks, have been piling in on him from all over the state yesterday and today, and he is compelled to send the remittances back to the senders, because he is not willing to take the money until his publication plans have been completed.

"I am today having estimates prepared and submitted to me on publication of the paper," said the governor, "and on those I will decide whether to have the work done by contract or to set up my own printing plant in Atlanta.

"Friends have volunteered their aid to me in getting up the subscription list, and we intend to put the paper every voting precinct in the state, with not less than 30,000 subscriptions paid in by the date the first issue is printed. In fact, we are going to guarantee a circulation of that minimum at the start."

During his college career he took a prominent part in student activities. He was one of the most brilliant debaters that ever attended Mercer and won several medals, one for a speech in an inter-college debate in the Grand Opera House in Atlanta. He was popular and influential with the students and was a leader in his class.

In 1905, five years after beginning the practice of law, he was elected solicitor general of the Circuit Court. He at once demonstrated his ability as a lawyer and a prosecutor and made the reputation of being one of the best solicitors in Georgia. Following six years service as solicitor he was elected judge of the circuit without opposition and served on the bench several years.

In 1916 he ran for the court of appeals when that court was increased from three to six judges. He was elected. In October, 1917, Governor Dorsey appointed him from the court of appeals to the supreme court to serve the unexpired term of the late Judge Beverly D. Evans, when the latter became United States district judge.

He served on the supreme court until the first of last January, on which date he resigned to return to his law practice and business interests at Vienna.

On the court of appeals and supreme court Judge George was considered as the most capable and able jurist in the state. He performed an unusually large amount of work and his decisions were highly regarded both by his colleagues and the members of the bar.

Senator Walsh said the party would make substantial gains because of the general disgust and disappointment of Republican and independent voters with the national and local Republican administrations," adding that the national Republican administration was "decidedly unpopular," and that the people felt that it was "drifting, drifting to fate and chance, with no real, vigorous, courageous leadership."

"Of course, the tariff, taxation, Newberryism and bonus are everywhere being discussed," he said, "but in my opinion the real issue is the Republican administration."

"The Republicans appear to have plenty of money but that is not a very good thing. The voters are angry, determined and their opinions are already fixed. They are waiting for their day, November 7th, and you can count upon a decided vote of condemnation or protest whichever you desire to call it."

INTERESTING SKETCH OF SENATOR GEORGE

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE ENJOYS CONFIDENCE AND ESTEEM OF PEOPLE WHO KNOW HIM.

Judge Walter F. George, who won the Democratic nomination for the United States senate in the special primary Tuesday, and who will serve the unexpired term of the late Senator Watson, is one of the most popular men in Georgia.

He was born in Webster county in 1878, the son of Robert T. and Sarah Stapleton George. He is therefore 44 years of age and goes to the senate in the very prime of life. He received his early education in Dooley county, to which his family removed in his childhood and entered in the class of 1890, he took the law course for one year and went to Vienna, the county seat of Dooley county, to practice law.

During his college career he took a prominent part in student activities. He was one of the most brilliant debaters that ever attended Mercer and won several medals, one for a speech in an inter-college debate in the Grand Opera House in Atlanta. He was popular and influential with the students and was a leader in his class.

In 1905, five years after beginning the practice of law, he was elected solicitor general of the Circuit Court. He at once demonstrated his ability as a lawyer and a prosecutor and made the reputation of being one of the best solicitors in Georgia. Following six years service as solicitor he was elected judge of the circuit without opposition and served on the bench several years.

In 1916 he ran for the court of appeals when that court was increased from three to six judges. He was elected. In October, 1917, Governor Dorsey appointed him from the court of appeals to the supreme court to serve the unexpired term of the late Judge Beverly D. Evans, when the latter became United States district judge.

He served on the supreme court until the first of last January, on which date he resigned to return to his law practice and business interests at Vienna.

On the court of appeals and supreme court Judge George was considered as the most capable and able jurist in the state. He performed an unusually large amount of work and his decisions were highly regarded both by his colleagues and the members of the bar.

Senator Walsh said the party would make substantial gains because of the general disgust and disappointment of Republican and independent voters with the national and local Republican administrations," adding that the national Republican administration was "decidedly unpopular," and that the people felt that it was "drifting, drifting to fate and chance, with no real, vigorous, courageous leadership."

"Of course, the tariff, taxation, Newberryism and bonus are everywhere being discussed," he said, "but in my opinion the real issue is the Republican administration."

"The Republicans appear to have plenty of money but that is not a very good thing. The voters are angry, determined and their opinions are already fixed. They are waiting for their day, November 7th, and you can count upon a decided vote of condemnation or protest whichever you desire to call it."

Judge George, as stated, enjoys great personal popularity throughout the state. He is a man of quiet and dignified manners, yet is most democratic. He is fond of fishing and hunting and often goes to the Gulf of Mexico on fishing trips with friends in southwest Georgia. Judge Roscoe Cook, of Hiram, and Judge H. B. Luke and Judge R. C. Bull, of the latter county, are his frequent companions on these trips.

Judge George is a member of the Baptist church and teaches a large class in his Sunday-school at Vienna. He has been active in religious work since early young manhood.

As a speaker he ranks with the best in the state.

Irving Fordham dies from blood poisoning.

Irving Fordham, a farmer aged about 20 years, died suddenly at his home in the northern edge of Statesboro at an early hour Sunday morning of blood poisoning, following an illness of only a few days. Mr. Fordham was first bothered with a small boil on his nose. Blood poison set in and he lived only a day or two.

Mr. Fordham was married and was the father of several children. Besides his wife and children he is survived by his father and other relatives.

Each and every member of the Farmers Union of Bulloch county is requested to meet at Statesboro in the grand jury room, on Saturday, Nov. 4th, at 10 o'clock a. m. to transact business of importance. The state organizer will be present.

COMMITTEE.

COUNTY FAIR IN FULL SWING

"FINEST IN GEORGIA" IS THE COMMENT OF VISITOR HERE WEDNESDAY.

"The Bulloch county fair is 100 per cent better than anything I have seen in Georgia this season," was the voluntary expression of a certain prominent citizen who was in our city Wednesday. Going further, he added, "It is a hundred times better than another county fair not far from here (and he gave the name), and twice as good as a certain other fair with a bigger-sounding name. The agricultural display of any two school communities will equal the whole of any fair I have seen in the state so far this fall, and I have seen more than a dozen of them."

We wouldn't like to give the name of the gentleman making this statement, though he did not pledge us to secrecy and apparently was willing to be quoted. He spoke in the presence of a number of other persons, and was prompted solely by feeling of pleasant surprise at what he found in the Bulloch county fair.

And what this man said was no mere flattery. Bulloch county fairs have borne a reputation in the past, and there never has been one which excelled the present from the standpoint of agricultural display. There is no vacant compartment in the agricultural exhibit, and there has never been shown more attractive arrangement. Seven county school communities have contested for the prizes offered for community displays. The judges have had a difficult task to choose between them.

The agricultural awards were announced Wednesday afternoon, while the livestock department and women's department are being judged today. Awards were made in the agricultural and school community contests as follows:

School community general display: First—Register; $100.

Second—Bradwell; $75.

Third—Bird; $50.

Fourth—Sunny Side; $40.

Fifth—Brooklet; $35.

Sixth—Portia; $30.

Seventh—Leefield; $25.

Special school display of canned goods (in woman's building) only four entries:

First—Portia; $25.

Second—Bird; $40.

Third—Sunny Side; $10.
